September brings you back to a new school year and eager young students. There are seven special events and celebrations in this month. They are Labour Day, the first week of school, Grandparents’ Day, The Autumn Equinox, The International Day of Peace, Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

- For some of these themes you will find information for each special event, teaching suggestions, songs, poems and useful reproducible activities.

- The Back to School section will have poems and songs related to school and the month of September. Reproducibles review many previously learned skills and could be used to test student recall.

- Learn about community workers and parents’ jobs by discussing Labour Day even after it has been celebrated. This section provides information, activities, ideas and reproducibles involving the skills of classifying and creative writing.

- Grandparents’ Day is an exciting event for your students. You will find information pertaining to the day, activities, poems, teaching ideas, ways to say Grandmother and Grandfather in other languages and two reproducible creative writing worksheets.

- A good time to discuss the Autumn Equinox is on September 22 or 23 which will lead to watching for the signs of Autumn and all its changes. This section contains information, a bulletin board idea, a poem, teaching ideas and a reproducible activity on classification.

- Celebrate the International Day of Peace by using the information provided, the teaching ideas and the reproducible art activity.

- Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur are two important religious celebrations in which Jewish people all over the world participate. Implement the information provided, the Jewish story called “The Coronation”, teaching ideas and the reproducible activities on the “sh” digraph and the skill of using context clues to complete sentences of a story.

- Further ideas and activities on these themes may be found in the the following books published by S&S Learning Materials.

September Songs

I Am Special
Tune – “Up on the Housetop”
I am special look at me.
I can run and climb a tree.
I can sing and read a book.
I am growing come and look.
Oh! Oh! Oh! Watch me grow!
Oh! Oh! Oh! Don’t be slow!
I am special yes siree.
I’m as special as can be.

Good-bye Summer – Hello Fall
Tune – “Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star”
Good-bye summer,
Hello Fall.
Summer memories we’ll recall.
School bells ringing.
Soon we’ll hear,
Children coming far and near.
Good-bye summer, Hello fall.
Time has come to heed the call

September Poems

School Days
The alarm clock rings,
You open your eyes.
The day begins,
You have to rise.

Brush your teeth,
And comb your hair.
Brand new things,
For you to wear.

Look both ways,
You cross the street.
Get on the bus,
You find a seat.

Today is the day,
That school begins.
You can hardly wait,
To meet your friends.

The school bell rings,
You open the door.
Another school year.
Begins once more.

It’s That Time
Buy a new school bag.
Buy new clothes
Buy new shoes.
I can’t wear those.
Making lunches.
Making a friend.
Making projects.
It’s that time again.

September
A road like brown ribbon
A sky that is blue
A forest of green
With that sky peeping through
Asters, deep purple,
A grasshopper’s call
Today it is summer.
Tomorrow is fall.

Little Children
Tune – “This Old Man”
Little children in J.K.
Play in water and sand all day.
With shovels, pails and sifters too
There are lots of things to do.

Little children in S.K.
Cut and paste and model clay.
With crayons, scissors and sticky glue.
There are lots of things to do.

Little children in Grade One.
They count numbers and have fun.
With sticks and numbers and fingers too.
There are lots of things to do.

Little children in Grade Two.
Read and write new stories for you.
With papers, pencils, computers too.
There are lots of things to do.

Little children in Grade Three.
Science, Math and History
With maps and globes and charting too.
There are lots of things to do.

Celebrate Labour Day!

Teacher Information:

Labour Day is a special day held on the first weekend in September. It is held to honour all kinds of workers.

Many years ago labourers or workers had to work long hours each day at their jobs. Labourers were poorly paid and often their jobs were dangerous as there were no safety rules. In those days there were no unions set up to protect the rights of the labourers. Unions were illegal and workers would be arrested and put in jail if they talked about or tried to form one. A union is a group of people elected by the labourers to protect their rights.

In 1872, a group of printers, in Toronto, went out on strike because they felt their bosses treated them unfairly and they wanted to form a union to speak for them. Since they were breaking the law, some of the strikers were put in jail. This made the people march in a big parade to the government buildings and protest loudly.

The strikers were set free and the government made a law that said unions were now legal and they could be formed by the workers. Today people from all kinds of jobs celebrate this freedom with picnics, meetings and parades on Labour Day.

Activities:

• Even though your class won’t be in school on Labour Day they should be informed of its importance and how it came to be. Use the information provided to help lead a discussion.
• Discuss the types of jobs held by family members. List their jobs on the chalkboard or on chart paper.
• Display pictures of labourers on a bulletin board entitled “Happy Labour Day”. Label the pictures and display poems and books related to workers.
• Read stories about different labourers such as Curious George at the Fire Station; Curious George Visits a Police Station; Curious George and the Dump Truck; Curious George Takes a Job; The Berenstain Bears on the Job; The Fire Station by Robert Munsch.
• Use one of the following reproducible activities as a follow-up to the discussion.
• Invite parents with particular jobs to your classroom to speak about their work.
• Visit a place of employment such as a firehall, police station, factory or retail store.
• Discuss the types of jobs your students might work at when they grow up.
• Have your own Labour Day Parade. Each student will make a picture of his/her favourite labourer. The picture should be attached to a stick or a straw. The class will parade around the school holding up their pictures while cheering “Happy Labour Day.”
Canada Day is a day to celebrate everything that makes us Canadian; we celebrate our values, diversity, freedom, and the natural beauty of our country. We also have some fun embracing the stereotypes. We eat Canadian food, dress in true Canadian fashion, and enjoy some classic Canadian festivities. Canadian Food. Québec City’s Canada Day Celebrations will take place in two historic locations: Dufferin Terrace and The Plains of Abraham.
