After years of sacrifice, they wanted to enjoy the good life in a growing economy. Nineteen fifty-two was a presidential election year. Americans elected Dwight Eisenhower, a military hero of World War Two. The years after the war produced the Baby Boom generation. In nineteen fifty there were twenty-four million young children in America. By nineteen sixty that number was thirty-five million. To them, much of life in nineteen-fifties America was empty and meaningless. The painter Jackson Pollock represented a spirit of rebellion in art. Pollock would drop paint onto a canvas. What did his works mean? People had to decide for themselves. (MUSIC: â€œDonâ€™t Be Cruelâ€). In music, the rebel was Elvis Presley -- the king of rock and roll.
